RURAL ROUTE CHANGE

Routes 1 And 2 Go Back To Their Old Schedules.

Last week The Ledger called attention to the fact that Rural Routes Nos. 1 and 2, were by order of the Department leaving the post office here at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., instead of at 11:30 a. m., as was the former custom.
These routes are known as automobile routes, the carriers owning their automobiles, make the faster time than with horse and cart.

Quite a protest went up over the change, and on Monday orders were issued changing them back to the old hour of leaving. This order becomes effective today, much to the gratification of the patrons, who live on these mail routes.

CLEANING UP.

The old library yard is undergoing a thorough cleaning and will soon present its old appearance—one of spotless cleanliness.

These grounds are among the prettiest in the city, and are the subject of much favorable comment.

Federal Court convened at Richmond today with Hon. A. M. J. Cochran, presiding, and of the governments interests
Hon. Thomas D. Slattery, in charge.

fore the footlights before he entered the moving picture field four years ago.
In the moving picture world he was re-

MALONE RESIDENCE NOT SOLD.

Yesterday afternoon the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malone, in West Fourth street was offered for sale at public auction, and although Auctioneer Hensley Hawkins, in his most eloquent way tried hard to was $5,500, and Mr. Malone withdrew the property.

The property consist of two story, basement and attic, brick dwelling and

DISTURBER STARTLES QUIET NEIGHBORHOOD.

Monday at noon George Kinney, of this city after loading up on "murder juice," started to raise a rumpus. He picked Bridge street for his base of operations, and was getting along fine with his mischief, till Chief of Police Mackey arrived on the scene and placed George under arrest. George did not like the Chief's methods and started to resist, but after a short struggle, and with the help of a negro man the Chief placed the culprit in the jail. He will have a hearing before Judge Whitaker this afternoon.

OPERATED UPON.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. James Fitzgerald, wife of Maysville's former City Collector and Treasurer, was operated upon for appendicitis at the Hayswood Hospital, Doctors Tumbler and

Fitzgerald has been ill for the past two weeks, but her condition was not considered so serious. She came out from under the effects of the anesthetic able night.

Her many friends are grieved to hear of her illness and hope she may soon be restored to health, in which The Ledger joins.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRACY'S FLIGHT.

Only the other day The Leader looked with sorrow and with some considerable indignation upon the joint speaking tour of Senator Beckham and Judge O'Rear in the interest of state wide prohibition.

The Leader's outburst was prompted not so much by what it thought about the liquor question in and of itself, but because of the fear of the possible effect which it might have upon the Republican party in the fall campaign.

Now The Leader is about ready to reverse itself. If there is anything which brings pleasure to the heart of a member of one party it is to see all sorts of discussion in the ranks of the opposition, and just now it looks like there is more trouble brewing in the Democratic organization than can be cured in twelve months.

Yesterday and the day before Editor Watterson, in the Courier-Journal, made terrific assaults upon the Democratic leaders who have taken the state wide prohibition end of the contest which is now just getting a good start in Kentucky.

Yesterday Mr. Watterson's attack upon Senator Beckham was terrific, and as to Judge O'Rear he said:

"O'Rear's motive is obvious. Hating Democracy with a holy hate, he would raise all the hell to the square inch in a Democratic state he is able to raise."

Thus, it appears that The Leader's fears were without grounds. Judge O'Rear's part in this joint tour bodes not so much injury to the Republicans as it does to the Democrats. If that be true, Sir, Judge, Sir, Sir.

But here comes the Louisville Post, another good Democratic newspaper, and takes a whack at Editor Watterson. Truly the picture reminds one of the story of the husband who yelled to his second wife:

"Mariah, come out here! Your children and my children are ruinin' hell with our children."

The Louisville Post says:

"Mr. Watterson in 1911 was opposed to the county unit law; was denouncing its supporters; was declaring war against Mr. Beckham and those Democratic leaders who wanted to write, and did write, a pledge for the perfection of the county unit law into the Democratic platform.

"Today, with Mr. Beckham, in the Senate and Mr. Wilson in the White House, Mr. Watterson stands for the county unit as an essential principle of true Democracy, and praises without qualification the letter of Mr. Wilson, which four years ago he fondly believed meant the political destruction of 'the crook from New Jersey,' Mr. Watterson's description of President Wilson.

"Thus again Mr. Watterson comes 'limping in the rear.' In the course of time he can be counted on to curse every principle he has advocated and to advocate every principle he has unhorsed. Mr. Watterson supporting the county unit law is an object lesson in the blindness of the politician who is guided only by personal animosities. Today he is, by his wild diatribes, doing more to drive Kentucky into state wide prohibition than the joint campaign of Judge O'Rear and Senator Beckham."

—Lexington Leader.

ALMOST BEATS "BOONE'S BLACK DIAMOND."

If the Dixie Highway is to follow every road traveled by old Squire Boone enduring of his sojourn in Kentucky, the automobile tourist who attempts to go over the route at the speed limit will be cross-eyed before he gets to Cumberland Gap.—Lexington Leader.

The tangle and turmoil over the construction of modern highways in Kentucky is too ridiculous to mention. If this thing keeps on there may be open war and intimidation, whipping, etc., may result. No wonder Kentucky is known as "the night-rider state."

Mason county should go ahead and build her own modern turnpike system and attend to her own knitting and let the "Boone way" and the "Dixie way," and all other kinds of ways go to the dickens, as they are merely "paper roads," anyhow.

Beautiful Home For Sale

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dawson have placed with us for sale their new home on East Second street, in the Sixth Ward. This home is located on a large lot, 72x150 feet, and running back to Williams street. We will not make any attempt to describe this home in detail. It is built of pressed brick, with hardwood floors, basement under the entire house, slate roofing, hot water, furnace, gas all over the house, and in fact, is modern and complete throughout, and must be seen to be fully appreciated. This beautiful home has been admired by all who have seen it, and every Maysvillian is justly proud of such enterprising citizens, as the builders of this property. Mr. Dawson's health is such that his physician has urged him to spend his winters in the South, and for that reason he offers his home for sale at less than cost, $6,500.

COUNTY COURTS

Accorded Jurisdiction Over Delinquent Children.

Frankfort, Ky.—Certifying to the law in the case of the Commonwealth against David T. Franks, the Appellate Court, held that the County Court has exclusive jurisdiction over delinquent children. The appeal was taken from the Grant Circuit Court. Franks was indicted on the charge of grand larceny, and his attorney filed an affidavit stating that Franks was only 17 years old. The Commonwealth Attorney moved that the Court dismiss the prosecution on the ground that the Circuit Court did not have jurisdiction. The Circuit Court, however, on its own motion transferred the case to the County Court. The Appellate Court says that the Circuit Court should have dismissed the prosecution. The complaint could have been made in the County Court and Franks would have been brought under its care and supervision in that way.

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT

To Be Held at Washington Promises To Exceed Every Expectation.

Plans for proper precaution and entertainment of veterans at the coming annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held in Washington next September, are working out satisfactorily.

The various committees are meeting with encouragement, and there is every reason to believe that their fondest hopes for success will be realized. President Wilson and Secretary of War Garrison are among the prominent persons who already have signified their willingness to serve on the honorary committee to welcome the veterans to the Capital.

CANNON BALL IN TREE

Found Imbedded In Center By Man Cutting Wood.

A six-pound cannon ball was found imbedded in a tree on the hill back of Aberdeen, one day last week. The tree was being cut down by Cleon Cooper and it was firmly imbedded in the center. Nobody has any knowledge of how it came to be there, but it is supposed to have been fired during the Civil War time, which means that for a half century its resting place has been where it was found.

This estimate, reduced to crates, shows that present crop conditions, with continued favorable weather, promise 257,200 crates. The average price paid last year was $2 a crate.

OUR CITIZEN'S DEMAND

Fully Complied With—A Maysville Resident Furnished It.

There are few items which appear in this paper more important to Maysville people than the statement published below. In the first place, it is from a citizen of Maysville and can be thoroughly relied upon. In the second place it indisputably proves that Doan's Kidney Pills do their work thoroughly and not temporarily. Read this carefully:

Frederick Dresel, 1238 E. Second St., Maysville, Ky., says: "I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and I had a severe pain across the small of my back which interfered with my duties. When a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Wood & Son's Drug Store. Since using them I have had no trouble. All I said about Doan's Kidney Pills before, still holds good."

Mr. Dresel is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Dresel had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. SULTANA DISASTER

Occurred 50 Years Ago Today—Greatest Accident of the War Vividly Recalled.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—On April 27, 1865, just fifty years ago today, the boilers of the Mississippi River steamboat Sultana exploded, and caused the deaths of hundreds of passengers, most of whom were paroled Federal prisoners of war returning to their homes in the North. Notwithstanding the fact that the loss of life was greater than in any marine disaster of modern times, with the possible exception of the sinking of the Titanic, the Sultana disaster has been almost wholly neglected by historians. A careful search in the Library of Congress fails to discover any reference to this terrible disaster in any history of the period, any encyclopedia, or in any well known narrative of the civil war. This singular neglect on the part of historians has been ascribed to the fact that when the disaster occurred the attention of the country was monopolized by the assassination of President Lincoln, and the great events that marked the closing days of the war.

The official records of the civil war contain an account of the disaster, embodied in the reports of military officers who were ordered to investigate the facts for the purpose of fixing the responsibility, but even these reports are unsatisfactory, and singularly inconclusive. One report embodied in the official records fixes the number of lives lost at 1,238, but in another part of the same report it is stated that "the loss of life is known to exceed 1,000."

In the early part of April, 1865, hundreds of exchanged and paroled Federal prisoners were gathered in camps near Vicksburg, for transportation to their homes in the North. Most of them had been confined in prison camps at Andersonville and Mican, Ga., and in Castle Morgan at Cahaba, Ala. Many of the men were sick and nearly all were weak and emaciated, and naturally all were eager to return to their homes.

Many steamboats plying the Mississippi were chartered to convey the men to Cairo. The largest of these boats was the Sultana, a New Orleans and St. Louis packet, built at Cincinnati in the early part of 1863.

The Sultana had left New Orleans on April 21, on her regular trip up the river with about seventy cabin passengers and a crew of eighty-five. She also carried a considerable freight cargo. On her arrival at Vicksburg it was found that one of the boilers was leaking and the boat was delayed while the leak was repaired. Then the boilers were inspected and all was declared to be in good condition.

It is not certain just how many men were embarked on the ill-fated steamer at Vicksburg, but it is certain that it was the largest number ever carried by any boat on the Mississippi. According to the official report of the officer in charge of the Vicksburg station, 1,866 men, including 35 officers, were put on board. The clerk of the boat, who was among the survivors, stated that the total number exceeded 2,500.

The start from Vicksburg was made on April 24. Memphis was reached on the evening of April 26. At 2 o'clock the next morning the voyage upstream was resumed. Half an hour later, while passing the islands known as the "Hou and Chickens," opposite Tagleman's Landing, the crash of the explosion came. Hundreds were killed outright. To add to the horrors of the occasion the wreck almost instantly took fire, and soon was burning fiercely. Rain was falling and the river was running high. It was every man for himself, and little hope for any. Yet survivors told of many deeds of heroism in the terrible hour of peril. A number succeeded in reaching the banks, to which they clung and waited for rescue, but numbered with cold. Some of these were taken off by boats after daylight, but more succumbed to their weakness and were swept away.

There were twelve women on board the boat, most of them belonging to the Christian commission. Only one of the twelve was saved.

Citizens of Memphis, appalled by the greatness of the catastrophe, did all in their power to minister to the relief of the 700 rescued. They were taken to the military hospitals, where everything possible was done for them, but in spite of all, some 200 died of their injuries and exposure. The others were sent to their homes in the North.

The late George M. Clinger, of this city was a survivor of this disaster and related his hair-breadth escape to many here.

Vevay, Ind., reports a temperature of 110 degrees, Saturday the hottest in sixty years for this season of the year.

BAD STOMACH TROUBLE

'Yields to Delicious Vinol

Shreveport, La.—"I had a bad stomach trouble for years and became so weak I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was poor, my food would not digest, I bloated and was very weak and nervous. I tried many remedies without help. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and now my stomach trouble is completely cured and I am well."—E. L. MARSHALL.

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously.

Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight."

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the woman's constitution, and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

The Pastime Monday night presented a series of pictures that was both pleasing and entertaining to the large audience, who witnessed these performances. This house is putting on some mighty good shows, most of which are real features.
